

BULL KAURI

Place the events in the bull kauri's life in order.

A large rectangular area defined by a dashed blue border, intended for students to write down the events in the bull kauri's life in chronological order.

Organises information in a chronologically ordered timeline

BULL KAURI

Cut-outs

The sapling grows to become part of the undergrowth.

The wet comes and the seed shoots.

A bull kauri cone explodes and falls to the forest floor.

A sapling of a bull kauri struggles for light on the forest floor.

One seed sends roots into the soil and begins to grow.

The sapling shoots up into the understory.

The bull kauri is 150 years old and 30 metres tall.

The bull kauri is 100 years old and gum oozes from its trunk.

The bull kauri is 200 years old and the tallest tree in the rainforest.

Organises information in a chronologically ordered timeline

