

Physical Activity

In Bev and Kev the giraffe, Bev, travels a long way to find his new friend Kev. Along the way he meets a lot of other animals. Each of these animals has their own particular way of moving and being. To allow children to immerse themselves in the story and explore the many animals Bev meets put on some African music and have children move around like the animals Bev passes on his journey.

Picture cards have been provided below so you do not have to call out the new animal but rather hold up the card. This encourages children to be observant for changes such as the changing cards and aware of their surroundings and the ways in which they move in a group as they crawl, flutter, scamper and gallop around.

Cooperates with others when participating in physical activities.
