

MATCHING

Match each season to its description.

Birak ●

● Southerly winds start to blow and parrots feed on banksia flowers.

Bunuru ●

● Hot morning east wind and cold evening ocean wind mean its time to relax in the shade during the day.

Djeran ●

● Waterholes and wetlands dry up and salmon swim north as the sea cools down.

Makuru ●

● Magpies, kangaroos and possums protect their young and the dark emu is in the sky.

Djilba ●

● Wildflowers blossom and snakes leave tracks in the sand.

Kambarang ●

● Rain refills creeks and rivers, whales migrate and swans nest.

Understands that the seasons used by Aboriginal people are different to those used in Western society.
