

Animal Descriptions

ANSWER KEY

Beetles

Skinks

Bats

Rosellas

Possums

These marsupials are one of few animals that can climb down a tree head first. They require large hollows to keep their babies safe and to rest during the day.

One of the larger microbats in Australia the animals sleep in groups in tree hollows

Often laying eggs in small cracks in trees these animals larvae make holes in trees when they eat the wood.

These bright red parrots can live for up to 20 years. They create a nest in a tree hollow to lay their eggs and hatch their young.

These small lizards search for insects in tree cracks or seek shelter from predators.

Uses comprehension strategies to expand content knowledge.

