

Things I Love

When Matteo plants his beans the ground is shaped like an actual heart muscle, when he explains that bees exist for love the bee's hive is shaped like a heart. This shape is used for the snail's shell, the peaches and split in two for the prickly pear tree.

Fill the heart shape below with all the things you love. Some of the words can be big to show things you love the most and smaller to show things you love slightly less. An example has been provided to show you.
